Boston Investment Conference

About Our Conference

The Boston Investment Conference gathers the brightest minds in the investment community together for a full day of insights, ideas and networking. Each year, conference proceeds benefit a new research initiative at Boston Children's Hospital, as well as unique collaborations between Boston Children's and the Broad Institute.

Proceeds from the 2017 conference support Boston Children's research in stem cell cures for blood disorders, including cancers. The potential gains are enormous, including off-the-shelf blood products and cures for genetic blood disorders. Millions could benefit.
